JUDGE A. E. COLE.

"A Faithful, Fearless, Uncompromising and Conservative Official."

At the last term of the Rowan Circuit Court, Hon. Ben. S. Robbins, of Lagrange, Ky., served as Commonwealth's Attorney pro tem, and discharged the duties of that office in a manner that was characterized by his accustomed faithfulness, ability and impartiality. In alluding to Judge Cole, in a letter published in the Louisville Commercial, he pays our Circuit Judge a deserved compliment in language as follows:

"Certain newspapers took occasion at the term of court to which I have alluded to make some invidious allusions to Judge A. E. Cole, the Circuit Judge of the Fourteenth district. His absence from Morehead in August, 1885, was made the basis of numerous innuendoes affecting his courage and official integrity. To those who know him, no vindication is necessary. The best characterization I have seen of his innuendoes referred to is that they were as contemptible as their authors. Until February 23rd, of this year, I never saw Judge Cole, but after an intimate association with him, and the most careful scrutiny of his efficient conduct for nearly two weeks, I am prepared to say that in a somewhat varied practice of twelve years I have not seen a Judge more faithful to his trust, more fearless and uncompromising in the performance of his duty, more conservative and at the same time more positive in his opinions, purer in his morals, or better equipped in all respects for his position, than he. The highest compliment I can pay him is to say that he is a most formidable rival of Judge De Haven and Judge Jackson in the attributes and acquirements that go to make a model Circuit Judge. His absence from Rowan in 1885 was caused first by the dangerous illness of his son, who was a student at an eastern college, and latterly by his own serious illness, from the effects of which he has not yet recovered entirely."

"I never 'decided' for myself and seldom for another, but I will say this much—a failure to re-elect Judge Cole would be a calamity to this district, greater, if possible, than a visitation of Kentucky militia. To institute a comparison between him and the quasi court of August, 1885, would be to insult him. He has been hampered in the performance of his duties by the necessity of conducting his courts with the assistance of inexperienced and, sometimes, incompetent attorneys for the Commonwealth, the regular incumbent of that position being unable from age, sickness and other causes not necessary to mention, to perform his duty. If he had been able to preside at the August term last year, no soldiers would have been called for, as none were necessary, and the glorification of militia officers, so freely indulged in, would have been impossible."

A MERCHANT of Winchester, Ky., sold a seventeen pistol to one man last night. The fellow was from the mountains and had been down at Frankfort and while there heard that the Legislature was about to "abolish" the sale of deadly weapons. As the pistol is considered one of the necessities for a man's outfit up where he came from, he thought it advisable, no doubt, to take a supply home with him, and at the same time take a few fellows for his friends. The Winchester Sun, in speaking of the proposed bill on this subject of pistols, says: "After the Legislature passes this law against the sale of 'deadly' rifle weapons, we propose an appropriation to build a wall around Kentucky greater than the wall of China, burn all the bridges connecting us with other States, crop the wings of all the young men on our borders, tie them to their mother's apron strings and make them fire insurance."

There are about thirty-six fire insurance companies at present doing business in Maysville. Before a company can legally write insurance here, it must comply with the provisions of the Insurance Department at Frankfort and then pay an annual license of $30 to the city. To date, only twelve companies have taken out this license when three times that many are doing business here. It has been suggested that our citizens might avoid trouble in case of a fire by not accepting a policy from any agent until they are satisfied his company has complied with the law.

The Winchester (Ky.) Sun, in giving advice to the newly-elected Chief of Police of that place, handles the matter thusly: "When you see a man reeling around at this season of the year, don't conclude at once that he is drunk. The high wind at this season, and the weakness that results from the hard winter and light diet, may be the cause of his apparent inebriety. Before incoherently making a mistake, let the wind strike him and blow your breath against him occasionally. By noting the effect, you can shortly tell whether he is drunk or only weak and wind shaken."

FOURTEEN dollars per hundred was the highest price realized for tobacco at Louisville last week.

Mr. John T. Drennon of the Bonanza, was here Wednesday.

Hon. Adna A. Wadsworth, of Maysville, Ky., delivered a public address at the court house on Friday evening on the "Principles of Pythianism," it being the 23d anniversary of the founding of the order of Knights of Pythias. His theme was well handled, both as to matters of history and argument.—Winchester Sun.

MR. JOHN EVERETT, of this city, has been appointed a United States Storekeeper by Collector Robinson, of Lexington, and will be assigned to duty about the 1st of March. His many friends here and elsewhere will be gratified to hear of his good fortune. He is one of staunchest Democrats in the district, and is at the same time one of the cleverest young men of our city. General Robinson has made excellent appointments for this part of the district all along, but he hasn't made a more worthy, and a more satisfactory one than Mr. Everett's.

Question

Often asked, but seldom answered satisfactorily: "Is there a remedy known to the medical profession that will ally the sufferings peculiar to women who are subject to Dysmenorrhea and its attendant discomforts?"

Ladies

If you have not tried it, do so AT ONCE. There is relief for you; it has been found in

Magnolia

Read what an eminent physician has to say upon

"I have derived particularly gratifying results from the use of Toulgine in cases of Dysmenorrhea. In the case of a lady of rheumatic condition, a chronic sufferer from this disease, who had been driven almost to the verge of insanity by her monthly sufferings, its action has been most satisfactory. It relieved her promptly, and she now passes the once dreaded periods with but little discomfort. I could mention other instances of a similar character, but this is a remarkable case."
